

Executive Function

Executive functions are higher level thinking skills that everyone uses to organize and integrate information that the brain/body receives. This is the "manager" (regulates and controls) cognitive processes such as:

Attention

Working memory

Reasoning/behavior

Impulse/self-control/self-monitoring

Time management

Organization (time, space and material)

At KidTherapy, we integrate activities and strategies to address these areas throughout your child's treatment sessions and set up home programs for carry over.
